

08/583512

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A resilient sole for use in an article of footwear. The sole has controlled stiffness and manifests a slow shape recovery following compression by the plantar surface of the foot. A footwear construction using a sole with such characteristics improves stability of users of all age groups, while enhancing comfort.